

DevOps Engineer with Linux and AI background, Munich/remote starting on 2 Jan, +49 174 4969771, Github, Linkedin.

Infrastructure and DevOps Engineer at Intel

2022–now

Responsible for CI and testing pipelines for AI projects: Triton fork, PyTorch, MLIR extensions, Modin, ICL, Graph Compiler, HDK and others. Developed bash, python scripts, cmake-files. Migrated from Teamcity to GitHub actions. Compiled AI projects using g++, nvcc, icpx, cython, conda compilers. Evaluated pipeline failures with the focus on conda, Falcon Shores and bare-metal runs. Helped developers to overcome Linux and hardware challenges.

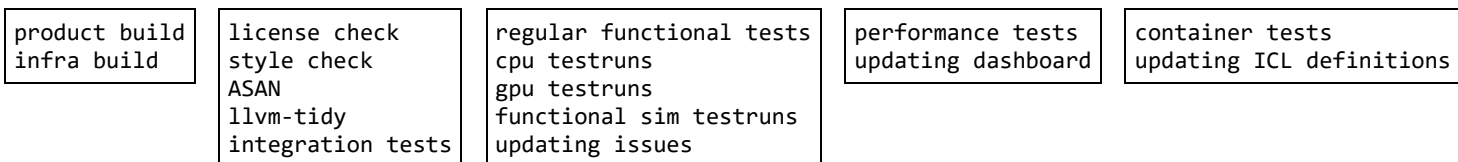

Processes

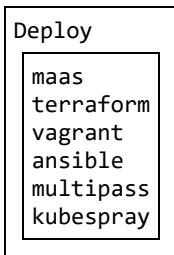

Containerized Environments

Pipelines

Infrastructure Control Language

Infrastructure

DevOps Engineer at AstraLinux

2019–2022

Built 40 GB releases and installers of Debian-compatible Linux distribution Orel (5000 packages) each quarter, rewrote awk buildsystem in Python.

Other DevOps Projects

Made releases, CI and testing pipelines for the following projects: RedHat-based Linux distribution, beaglebone-based digital spectrometers, Apache Openmeetings, a binary compiler, a functional simulator, JVM, Java Device Testing Suite.

Education

DevSecOps training, master degree with honors in Mathematics, Applied Mathematics from Moscow State University.